

Terms of Use

Caledon Community Services, Jobs Caledon Employment Services provides a job board that is publicly accessible and as such Jobs Caledon cannot control how third parties will use the information once posted on this job board.

Since job postings are available publicly Jobs Caledon will not take responsibility for employer/job seeker interaction. However, employers and job seekers can make arrangements with Jobs Caledon staff to assist in the job matching and placement process. Interested employers and job seekers may contact the Job Development Team at jobdev@ccs4u.org for details.

Additionally, job advertisements containing inappropriate information will not be advertised. Employers must understand that it is their responsibility to ensure that their job advertisement complies with all applicable federal/provincial/territorial legislation including employment standards and human rights legislation. (Please refer to the Ontario Labour Standards guide for applicable employment standards.)

Jobs Caledon Employment Services will not post job advertisements and will remove them, without notice, if they fail to comply with the above or for any other reason deemed appropriate.

The inclusion of postings and links on this site, does not imply endorsement by Caledon Community Services.
